MARKETING WESTERN NEW YORK PEARS
Review of the 1943 Season

Daily market reports on pears were issued from the Rochester office of the Federal State Market News Service from August 26 through November 6, 1943. The information contained in this review was obtained principally from these reports as well as from releases by the Crop Reporting Board of the United States Department of Agriculture and the State Agricultural Statistician in Albany.

Pears, like most other fruit crops in New York State this season, were very light and this season's production was estimated to be about 40 percent below the crop of 1942. This season's production was 528,000 bushels in comparison with 1,241,000 bushels in 1942. The ten year (1932-41) average for the State was 1,192,000 bushels. The pear trees bloomed from two to three weeks earlier than in 1942 but about the same time as in 1940. At blossom time it appeared that the production this season would be about 60 percent of that of 1942 but because of unfavorable conditions the final estimate placed the crop at about 40 percent. All varieties were lighter than a year ago but the greatest decrease was in the Bartlett crop.

The United States pear crop for 1943 was estimated to be 24,511,000 bushels as compared with 30,717,000 bushels in 1942, and the ten year (1932-41) average of 27,938,000 bushels. This season's production was about 24 percent less than a year ago and about 15 percent under the ten year average. All states with the single exception of California had lighter crops than a year ago. In California, the production was 2,708,000 bushels heavier than during 1942.

F.o.b. prices at western New York shipping points were much higher than during the previous season. Bushel baskets of U.S. No. 1, 2 inch minimum, Bartletts sold at prices ranging from \$4.00 to \$6.00. Clapp Favorites \$3.50 to \$3.85. $\frac{1}{2}$ Bushel baskets of Seckels, U.S. No. 1, $1\frac{1}{4}$ and $1\frac{1}{2}$ inch minimum, ranged from \$1.50 to \$2.50 during the period for which the daily reports were issued. The earlier varieties such as Clapp Favorites were about cleaned up before the daily reports started. The later varieties of commercial importance started about the same time as in 1942.

Ordinarily a large portion of the pear crop goes to canners both in the State and into Canada. However, this season due principally to the high prices and a heavy demand for the fresh fruit practically nothing moved in this direction.

The rail movement this year was very light, only 113 cars as compared with 499 in 1942. Only one season since 1917 has been lighter than this year and that was during 1941 when only 53 cars rolled. The decline in the rail movement in recent years is due partly to truck movement, more stock going to canners, and to a generally lighter production. The heaviest movement on record from the State was from the crop of 1922 when 5,342 cars moved to market from a crop estimated to be 3,200,000 bushels.
